

RIVERS IN KANSAS AT FLOOD STAGE

Government Weather Bureau Says Missouri Will Reach Thirty Feet by Sunday Evening.

OHIO FLOOD IS SUBSIDING

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 17.—Big packing concerns and other business interests in the west bottoms here were warned by the government weather bureau today to prepare for a twenty-eight-foot stage in the Kansas river at Kansas City by Sunday night. Residents of the lowlands east of Kansas City also were warned to expect a thirty-foot mark in the Missouri river. Should the rivers go as high as predicted serious damage is feared.

The Kansas river this morning stood at 23.5 feet, a fall of two-tenths of a foot over night. The Missouri was 27.5 feet, a rise of two-tenths of a foot since yesterday afternoon.

Scattering rains fell in the Kansas water shed last night.

The first death in the swollen waters occurred at Seneca, Kan., early today. An infant son of Benjamin Wichim was drowned when a buggy in which Wichim, his wife and the child were riding was overturned while fording a small stream. Conditions in northwest Missouri were improved today.

Ohio Flood Subsiding.

COLUMBUS, O., July 17.—The passage of last night without any considerable rainfall resulted in improved conditions early today throughout the Ohio flood district. While many thousand acres of land remained under water today, practically all rivers were either stationary or falling.

The Toledo and Cuyahoga rivers began receding here early today. Levees along the Toledo river in this city which began leaking yesterday afternoon were repaired during the night and this morning were reported to be holding fast against the strain upon them.

The miners now have increased their demands by asking the government to withdraw the royal proclamation making the coal mines subject to the munitions action. President Runciman of the Board of Trade rejected this proposition at a conference last night, and a meeting held in London today failed to secure any ground for an adjustment.

The extremist leaders declare, however, that it is a question no longer of a 5 per cent increase in wages, but the abrogation of the royal proclamation which subjects the miners to a fine of $15 daily for striking.

No effort yet has been made to enforce the fines against the 150,000 strikers, which the leaders construe as an evidence of virtual impossibility of carrying out the plan.

Reports received this morning from all the Welsh centers shows that the strike continues to cause much agitation, but no disorder.

Austrians Defeated on Vistula. GENEVA, Switzerland, July 16.—(Via Paris. Delayed by Censor.)—The Tribune prints the following dispatch from its correspondent at the front:

"The Austro-Hungarian forces which attempted to dislodge the Russians from positions along the Vistula river have been repulsed with heavy loss. The Russians attacking in turn, occupied a mile of the Austrian trenches.

"Fresh Russian batteries which have arrived and which have been posted on the Sereth river have begun to bombard the passage across the Dniester river south of Zalesakoy, obliging the Austrians to recross the river.

"Their retreat is being converted into a rout by Russian bayonet attacks.

"East of Hovdenka the Austrians occupying the left bank of the Dniester have been dislodged after a fierce hand-to-hand struggle.

"On the Stripa river the Russians have succeeded in temporarily arresting the Austrian offensive."

Two Baby Tornadoes Visit Same Farm

STOUT FALLS, R. D., July 17.—(Special.)—Two baby tornadoes, traveling only a short distance apart, visited the farm of G. H. Terveen, near Emery, and cut up a number of papers. The first one picked up a chicken house and carried it several hundred feet through the air, finally breaking it a pint kindling wood.

The baby-tornado also attacked some farm machinery and appeared to take pleasure in smashing it beyond repair. Only a short time afterward the second baby tornado put in its appearance, traveling practically the same route as the first one. It had much less force than the first one and did little damage.

It appears from reports that the operations of the two tornadoes were confined to the Terveen farm, for both seem to have disappeared after sweeping down upon the farm.

Calls from the Wire

A settlement of the strike of 2,000 tailors in New York is expected soon. Mayor William Hale Thompson of Chicago, and a party of nearly 100 persons began their journey to the Panama-Pacific fair at San Francisco.

With a grand ball in the Shrine auditorium the annual reunion and grand lodge meeting of the Elks was brought to a close at Los Angeles. The new board of grand trustees elected Cary L. Applegate of Overland, N.P., chairman.

A jury at Ogden declared Albert Geddes Scowles to be a son of the late David Scowles, and heir to one-third of the millions left by the sugar and lumber king of Utah. The boy's fortune is a result of the jury's verdict may be from $25,000 to $50,000.

Counterfeit money with a face value of nearly $2,000, alleged counterfeit Minnesota state bonds running up to $2,000 and also, plates, engraving tools and chemicals used by a gang of counterfeiters, fell into the hands of the Chicago police. Five men were arrested.

A sudden rush of southern buying drove near the close of the cotton market at New York, started heavy local over-shipment, which jumped prices over $1 a bale from the low points in the season and nearly $4 a bale from the low level of last week. Unfavorable crop news from Texas arrested the rise.

Gypsies Pay Fines.

SHENANDOAH, Ia., July 17.—(Special.)—The gypsies who were fined in Shenandoah $15 and costs for holding up Charles Depp, harnessmaker, in his shop, got into trouble at Yorktown the day they left here. Some potatoes freshly dug for Sunday dinner and some other provisions were to tempt at the home of Frank McCunn, so they were appropriated.

TORPEDO FIRED AT PASSENGER LINER ON THE HIGH SEAS

beating up the wind. We could see it over the bows.

"Captain Taylor apparently became suspicious of the boat. We noticed that the course of the ship was immediately changed so that the little vessel ahead would be given a wide berth. I could see that it would pass far astern of it if we kept to the new course.

"Some of those aboard believed the sailing ship was hiding a submarine behind it. Of this I can't say."

Thomas H. Graham of Liverpool, one of the passengers on deck, at the time interrupted Baron Rosenkrantz to express his firm conviction that such was the case.

May Have Been Normandy. "We passed the sailing ship at a considerable distance. Having done this most of us forgot it." Baron Rosenkrantz continued. "A few minutes after we had left it behind I looked through my glasses over the sea and saw a white streak coming toward us through the water. I wasn't sure at first it was a streak, such as the wake of a torpedo or the periscope of a submarine, but the question was soon settled.

"It was a torpedo. We could see it coming toward us at high speed. When it appeared to be half a mile or so off, the Orduza seemed to jump ahead and a second afterward to swerve to one side. It looked then as if the torpedo would strike us ast. But it didn't. It passed more than ten yards behind the rudder, churning up a white wake of foam as it passed by."

The passengers, including Baron Rosenkrantz, turned their glasses then on the sailing ship and tried to make out its name.

Mr. Graham said he thought she was "Normandie." He could not see clearly the letters painted on it, but was reasonably certain that it was the "Normandie" or a name similar to that.

Maritime records here contain no "Normandie" in the list of sailing vessels. A near approach to this name, however, is that of the American bark, Normandy.

Watches Torpedo Come. In this connection it was recalled here today that the Normandy reached Liverpool on July 14, three days after the Orduza was attacked, at the end of a voyage from Gulpport, Miss. Upon its arrival at Liverpool members of its crew said that the Normandy was stopped by a German submarine sixty miles southwest of Tuskar Rock, off the southeast coast of Ireland, Friday night, July 8, and was forced to act as a shield for the submarine, which hid itself from an approaching vessel, which proved to be the Russian steamer Leo.

The submarine submerged, according to the Normandy's crew, and proceeded around the Normandy's bows. Ten minutes later the crew of the Normandy saw the Leo blown up. The Normandy's crew said, was forced to act as a shield for the submarine upon threat of destruction should it refuse.

This occurred, the Normandy's crew said, on the night of July 8. The Orduza was attacked on the morning of July 9 and the scene of the attack was about twenty miles distant from the spot where the Leo was sunk.

The captain of the Normandy, however, specifically denied the story told by the members of the crew. The bark was stopped by the submarine, he said, but was allowed to proceed with some of the Leo's crew.

Causes Shock at Washington. WASHINGTON, July 17.—News of the attack on the Orduza upsets the theory of some officials here that Germany, while not yielding in the American diplomatic demands that unarmed ships be warned of attack in accordance with international law, was in practice observing that procedure.

On that theory much hope had been built for the successful effect the diplomatic representations brought about by the Lusitania disaster.

In support of their theory officials had pointed out that the British ships Armenia and Anglo-Californian, on both of which American lives were lost, were warned before attacked. Inasmuch as both attempted to escape—and one actually did—the United States held it could give its citizens in those cases no relief.

The view that Germany was now conducting its submarine warfare in accordance with the principles for which the United States contends has been so confidently entertained in official quarters that the attack on the Orduza came as little less than a shock. Only yesterday Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, expressed to Secretary Lansing his confidence that there would not be another disaster like the Lusitania.

The shell committee of the military department of the Italian government, acting for the British government is said to have awarded to the American Ammunition company within a week a contract for the manufacture of fuses amounting to $10,000,000.

An additional contract also amounting to $10,000,000, it is stated, has been given by the Canadian shell commission to the same group of manufacturing concerns.

The Canadian militia department is reported to have given in addition a $70,000,000 contract for shrapnel and high explosive shells to a financial group which will undertake to sublet the business among a number of industrial concerns.

Typewriter Plants Will Manufacture Fuses for Shrapnel

NEW YORK, July 17.—Most of the leading typewriter and adding machine companies in the east and middle west, it was stated today by the New York Journal of Commerce, have formed a new corporation under the name of the American Ammunition company, to take up contracts for the manufacture of fuses for high explosives and shrapnel shells for the English, French and Russian governments.

That Tread Is Double-Thickness Those Grips Are Deep and Sharp That Tire Is a Goodyear Fortified

And Your Tires— Are They Like These? Have They Goodyear Extras?

Let Us Find Out

We argue for the utmost in a tire. If others give it they deserve your favor. If they skimp their tires they don't.

Profits are small now, competition is fierce. Tire prices have dropped fast. Only mammoth outputs can cope with present conditions. So these are times to scrutinize your tires.

What Extras Cost

It will cost us $1,000,000 this year to make our All-Weather treads double-thick. Many anti-skids are merely regular treads made rough. Goodyear Fortified Tires contain five exclusive features employed by no one else. They contain other features which are rare. These extras will cost us on this year's output $1,635,000. Our latest improvements, just added this year, will cost us $500,000 during 1915. So it means something in these days to build maximum tires.

What Extras Save

One extra combats rim-cuts, one blow-outs, one loose tread. One means extra-strong side walls, one extra fabric protection. One makes the tire secure. One involves much added rubber.

Our double-thick All-Weather tread means extra wear and enduring grips.

These things save our users many times their cost to us. They gave Goodyear tires top place—have held them there for years. This year they are adding thousands to our users.

Price Savings

Despite these extras, Goodyear prices have come down and down. This year's reduction will save our users about five million dollars. And that was the third reduction in two years, totaling 45 per cent.

Consider these things. Most of them are hidden features. Tires which lack them look like tires which have them. But there's enormous difference in the average service. The only way to get all these extras is to ask for Goodyear Fortified Tires.

Any dealer will supply you.
